The Corporation of Brown University, Board of Trustees Emeritus

With over 40 years of multi-disciplinary experience, she has devoted her career to exploring complex challenges of contemporary built and natural environments. Her passion for developing innovative solutions that balance a modern aesthetic with an environmental practice that promotes environmental and social functionality in design as well as creating value for the client, the user, and surrounding community. Her design philosophy is to integrate landscape-based technologies and ecology to address the imminent threat of sea level rise in the urban environment that result in functional resilient landscapes that yield a return of investment. Under Laurinda's direction, ArquitectonicaGEO has produced award-winning designs for projects around the world such as the Dijon Performing Arts Center in France; the Taikoo Hui Development in China; the PortMiami Tunnel, Brickell City Centre, University of Miami Lakeside Village, and Perez Art Museum in Miami, Florida.
